

FERN WALK

OKANAGAN VALLEY BRITISH COLUMBIA VQA
ESTATE GROWN

Fern Walk appeals to all of your senses. The sense that you get from passing through stalks of fern, lightly touching their feathery leaves, and, for the moment, slowing down to take a breath and enjoy. You may choose a different path, start a new journey, or simply unwind a bit.

That moment of connecting with nature's essence, of transporting oneself, changing perceptions, all through a sip. This is what our winemaker captured in our uniquely refreshing wines.

2014 SAUVIGNON BLANC

Winemaker's Notes

The 2014 Sauvignon Blanc is medium-bodied with subtle grassy notes, tropical fruit including kiwi and passionfruit, and vibrant citrus flavours with a delightful balanced acidity. This finish is crisp with a touch of kick. Stainless steel fermentation for seven months ensures the fresh fruit character.

This wine is truly versatile when pairing with food. Try with sashimi or sushi, oysters, goat cheese, prosciutto-wrapped cantaloupe, oven-roasted turkey, or a light green salad topped with a citrus dressing.

Vineyard Season

The grapes are from the Osoyoos region in the Okanagan Valley on a ranch that is sustainably farmed. In this southern-most end of the Valley, the vineyards are slightly elevated and have a unique position that maximizes sun exposure, extending the hours that the grapes are exposed. This results in more flavourful grapes with excellent skin-to-juice ratio. The Okanagan Lake's natural cooling effect also helps during maturation.

The 2014 vintage was blessed with winter and spring rains that led into warm summer months. This resulted in vines that had full canopies and the perfect amount of grape clusters hanging on the vine before harvest. An overall dry and warm season, the 2014 season produced grapes with excellent balance and good character.
